CHRISTMAS

Christmas Day is a holiday in many, but not all, countries. Many homes have Christmas trees and other decorations in the weeks leading to Christmas Day. Some workplaces hold Christmas parties prior to December 25. Festive activities include exchanging presents, singing Christmas songs, going to parties. It's a special time when children get presents from family, friends and Santa Claus, or Father Christmas. Christmas cards are also given or sent out prior to Christmas Day.

HALLOWEEN

Halloween is a holiday celebrated on the night of October 31. The word Halloween is a shortening of All Hallows' Evening also known as Hallowe'en or All Hallows' Eve.

Traditional activities include trick-or-treating, bonfires, costume parties, visiting "haunted houses" and carving jack-o-lanterns. Irish and Scottish immigrants carried versions of the tradition to North America in the nineteenth century. Other western countries embraced the holiday in the late twentieth century including Ireland, the United States, Canada, Puerto Rico and the United Kingdom as well as of Australia and New Zealand.

The Colosseum

The Colosseum or Coliseum is today the most recognisable of Rome's Classical buildings. It was built 2000 thousand years ago, but it is still standing. The Rome emperor Vespasian decided the city needs an amphitheatre so it was built in 29BC after that decision.

Leaning Tower of Pisa

Tower of Pisa is more accurately referred to simply as the bell tower, or campanile.

The Pisa tower is one of the four buildings that make up the cathedral complex in Pisa, Italy, called Campo dei Miracoli or Piazza dei Miracoli, which means Field of Miracles.

The first building constructed at Campo dei Miracoli, Pisa, was the cathedral, or Duomo di Pisa, which rests on a white marble pavement and is an impressive example of Romanesque architecture. It stands at 60 metres and until 1990 was leaning at about a 10 degree angle. Although it was designed to be perfectly vertical, it started to lean during construction.

Red Square

Red Square is the largest and most famous square in Russia. It has a magnetic pull for all visitors to Moscow. Red Square has always been the main square of the city, and its history dates back to the 1490s when a new red brick Kremlin was built in Moscow. The east side of the fortification was vulnerable since it was not protected by the rivers nor any other natural barriers. This area outside the walls was cleared in order to create a field of fire for shooting, and became Red Square.

Machu Picchu

Historians believe Machu Picchu was built in the 15th and 16th centuries by Inca Epmrie. It was abandoned an estimated 100 years after its construction, probably around the time the Spanish began their conquest of the mighty pre-Columbian civilization in the 1530s. There is no evidence that the conquistadors ever attacked or even reached the mountaintop, however; for this reason, some have suggested that the residents' desertion occurred because of a smallpox epidemic.

Don't Go To Zoos

There are a lot of zoos all around the world, but are they really lovable? No. There you can see different kinds of animals but they are not living their actual climate. This hurts and damage them. There is not enough space to stay. Their wild life is much more big then their cages. Think yourself in a cage like that. That would be disaster. They are captivated in zoos they are mentally broke. They should not live in such environments. Zoos are not peaceful places and every animal has the right to stay their actual environment. Love animal but from far away.

Write the Turkish equivalent of the words.
